Dashboard overview

Unless you are logging in anonymously, you will have your own profile within your organization's subscription. When you log in, the dashboard page will load.

The lefthand column 1 will give you information about your subscription, the center column 2 will include messages from your administrator or Techstreet, and the right hand column – Activity 3 – is all about you.

The screenshot displays the Techstreet Enterprise dashboard interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for HOME, LISTS, UPDATES, SEARCH HISTORY, and BROWSE. Below this is a large search bar with the placeholder text "Search for a document..." and a "Search" button. The dashboard is divided into three main columns:

- Subscription (1): This column contains sections for "Subscription Details" (stating 34 publishers), "User Guide" (with a "Download User Guide" button), and "Popular Documents".
- Message Board (2): This column features a "TECHSTREET ENTERPRISE TRAINING" announcement and a section for "Standards Integrated By Reference".
- Activity (3): This column shows the user's profile "John Doe" (Ann Arbor, MI, USA) and a "My Documents" list including ASME B18.13-2017, ASME B31.1-2016, ASME B31.5-2016, ASTM A1016/A1016M-14, and MSS SP-61-2013.

Searching

As you type in search terms, the search engine will suggest document numbers and titles from your subscription ¹. If your search terms don't match a document number or title, the search engine will look across title, description, and more to find relevant standards.

You can elect to search off subscription using Search Modifiers on the left ². You can also elect to search across the full text of all documents here.

The screenshot shows the Techstreet Enterprise search interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links for HOME, LISTS, UPDATES, SEARCH HISTORY, and BROWSE. A search bar on the right contains the text 'bpvc' and a 'Search' button. Below the search bar, the results are displayed for 'bpvc'. The main heading is 'SEARCH', followed by a summary: 'Your search resulted in 47 documents for "bpvc" amongst current, subscribed Documents. Download'. On the left, there's a 'Filter Search' section with a 'Reset Filters' button. Below this, 'Search Modifiers' are listed: 'On Subscription' (checked), 'Most Recent Documents' (checked), and 'Full Text' (unchecked). A 'Publisher' section allows searching for a publisher, with a list of publishers: API (3), ASME (38), BS (2), CSA (3), and NACE (1). On the right, 'Additional Selections' include 'Bookmark to: John's List' and 'Sort by: Relevance'. The search results list 'ASME BPVC.I-2017' as a 'STANDARD', with details: '2017 ASME Boiler and Pressure Vessel Code, Section I: Rules for Construction of Power Boilers', 'Published: 07/01/2017', 'By: ASME International', 'ISBN: 9780791870754', and a list of historical versions. An 'Add Notes' button is also present. Below this, 'ASME BPVC.IV-2017' is partially visible.

FileOpen: Digital Rights Management

Some standards publishers require that Digital Rights Management (DRM) software be installed with their documents. The industry standard for DRM is FileOpen.

Requesting a Building Block, part 2

Once you have found a document you want to add via Building Blocks, go to the document detail page for that document. You will see a “This document is not part of your subscription” note towards the bottom of the screen. You can click on the Request Building Block link associated with the note ¹ to start the request process.

Your Lists ¹ are an easy way to group related standards and keep on top of updates or changes to those standards. For any standard you add to a list, Techstreet Enterprise will send you an email each time it's updated, and we'll automatically add the updated version to your list. Lists can be private, or you can share them with colleagues at your organization by making them public ². You can also make group lists to share standards between a select set of users.

With subscription updates, you can set up an alert so you get an email each time a new or revised document is added to your subscription ¹. It's a great way to keep on top of all the standards available to you through your organization's subscription.

Subscription Updates

Subscription Updates is a convenient way to stay informed about new or changed documents within your subscription.

NOTE: Update reporting data is only available beginning June 1, 2012.

Create New Report

Reports allow you view document changes, additions, or both, and may either be viewed online or downloaded as a CSV file to your desktop.

Select report type (new, changed, or both), specify a single publisher or all publishers, and the time-frame covered by the report (last 24 hours, last week, or last month), then click Run Report.

Show me documents from since Run Report

Create New Alerts ¹

Alerts allow you to receive periodic notifications of changes or additions to your subscription.

Select the alert frequency (daily, weekly, or monthly), alert type (new, changed, or both), and publisher (all publishers or a specific publisher), then click Create Alert.

Techstreet will alert you automatically according to the specified criteria.

The categories list includes Administration, Administration - Groups, Administration - Purchasing, Administration - Users, Building Blocks, Document Details, Document Not Available, Document Not in Subscription, Help Center, Home Page, Lists, Manage Lists, Manage Seats, My Account, Order, and Search. The main content area displays "Welcome to Help Center" and "Popular Help Topics" with links to "The FileOpen plug in", "Print Settings (Ex., Double Sided Printing)", and "FileOpen and the Chrome Browser". A "Why is my PDF blank?" link is also present. Below these, there are instructions on how to use the search bar and expand/collapse help categories. A note mentions that page-specific help is available on most pages, with a link to the Help icon. On the right side, the "Contact Us" section provides contact information for the Customer Care team, including phone numbers for the United States & Canada, Asia Pacific, and Rest of the world, as well as an email address (enterprise@techstreet.com). It also lists the hours of operation (Mon - Thu: 9am - 7pm, Fri: 9am - 6pm EST (GMT -5)) and a link to view administrators. A "Required Tools" section lists links to "Install Acrobat", "Install FileOpen", and "Test FileOpen". Finally, a "Training" section is mentioned at the bottom.
